Songwriters Concert Series Comes to Lower Sackville

This April and May, eight successful songwriters are coming to Lower Sackville. This series of songwriter circles and concerts are perfect for an audience who are ready to lean back, get comfortable, and simply listen to amazingly talented artists. The Pink Piano Café & Lounge is a new venue in Lower Sackville which, among other things, makes a fantastic listening room.

"Folks have been telling me they're tired of hearing live music in a noisy bar, and how driving downtown and finding parking close to a decent venue, was wearing thin." says Robert Campbell, host of 'Songwriters From Here And Away' a podcast and concert presenter.

"I have hosted many house concerts before and when I saw the quaint 'neo-bohemian' atmosphere of The Pink Piano Cafe & Lounge, I thought it would be a great spot for intimate concerts. People really enjoy being up close and personal with the artists."

All shows are up close & personal in the quaint, sixty seat, licensed cafe that opened in February 2024.

"I'm really looking forward to this. I'm super excited to be working with Robert on bringing such great musicians in and providing something a little different here in Sackville." said owner Jenn Perry. "My whole vision is that The Pink Piano should be a place for community, a welcoming space for folks of all ages and interests."
